In the 93rd minute of play …

Soccer games last 90 minutes. (Rugby and League last 80 minutes.) So how come the All Whites had their first glorious draw in the 93rd minute? Because the game is not over until the referee says so. Lessons we can all take from this.

1) Enter every competition you can find. Even those where you are up against the big guys. New Zealand played Italy, the world champions. We drew 1-1. Does that make us as good as the best? Yes, on the day.

2) Always put in your best effort. It's good for the soul.

3) You never know what will happen on the day. Maybe the big guy will get red-carded and removed from the game. It happens.

4) Weather, wind, rain, clods on the pitch, slippery ball … these can all affect the outcome. One never knows.

5) Be able to tell your grandkids "I once entered a story in the Katherine Mansfield Competition." or "One of my photos was considered for a Pulitzer Prize, y'know!"

Dawn Dutton is a successful wedding photographer. She covers Whangarei and the north. Back in 2008, when she was halfway through her NZIBS Photography course, people asked her to be their official wedding photographer. She has been busy ever since.

"I have dozens of bookings stretching into mid-2011" she says.

Her fee ranges from $1000 to $4500, depending on what the couple want.

How does she promote herself? "I created a rack card (part of the course requirements) which is displayed in various hairdressing salons. I have cards in the Harvey Norman photo printing dept. I attend Bride Shows and I have a website www.dawndutton.co.nz

Congratulations, Dawn. Brian Morris, principal
